

When off the shelf just isn't good enough...

Point Eight Power's breakthrough thinking solves your electrical-control and distribution system needs. If losing power is not an option, turn to Point Eight Power. We have designed, manufactured and serviced quality products for more than 1,500 clients for the last half century.

Process:

Point Eight Power uses a four-step process that ensures the delivery of high-quality custom-built systems for our clients. We Consult, Design, Manufacture and Service ... a process that aligns us with your challenges and one that is completely focused on your success. When you succeed we all win.

Products and Systems:

Never settle for off the shelf when Point Eight Power can custom design and manufacture electrical control and distribution systems from our unsurpassed product line that will absolutely meet your unique requirements.

People:

Point Eight Power's People are characterized by their drive for excellence. A family-owned business, we cultivate a culture of working together, respecting each other, and being passionate about the excellence we provide our clients – on every project, every time.

Proven Results:

Point Eight Power has demonstrated again and again, that it provides the best and most innovative answers for every project's specifications.

Performance:

Your success is our success. At Point Eight Power, performance and results are not mere buzzwords. They are the core of our philosophy and focus.

Partnership:

This is what Point Eight Power strives for in every relationship, whether it is with our clients, our vendors or our people.

Production Facility:

Whether it is a small electrical control panel or a 250 ton two-story fully equipped power control and distribution building, Point Eight Power has the capacity to handle just about any project. We have over 15,000 square feet of offices and 41,000 square feet of indoor manufacturing space. To accommodate our larger building projects, we have in excess of seven acres of outdoor workspace with more than 500 feet of waterfront access on the Intercoastal Waterway for ease of transportation.

Promise:

Point Eight Power is in the business of keeping promises.

We promise to approach each undertaking with a full understanding of your needs.

We promise to adopt your challenges as our own so we can succeed together.

We are in the business of working with you to arrive at exceptional solutions that realistically fit your time, budget and project's scope.

POINT EIGHT
POWER

Controlling the Power You Generate

*Flame job on request

Think outside the box. That's what we do.

Let Point Eight Power design and manufacture electrical control and distribution systems that meet your unique requirements.

Visit our website, and learn what we can do for you.

CALL NOW!

POINT EIGHT POWER

Controlling the Power You Generate

www.PointEightPower.com

1510 Engineers Road | Belle Chasse, LA 70037 | 800.284.1522